Re: Docket No. C2009-1, Complaint of GameFly, Inc.

Dear Chairman Goldway and Presiding Officer Blair:

I am writing to you to request that the Commission do what it can to expedite its decision in the GameFly complaint proceeding. GameFly filed this complaint nearly two years ago. Before that, GameFly spent 18 months working with the Postal Service in an attempt to resolve informally the issues on which the complaint was based.

I understand that the Commission has competing demands on its resources. Delay in resolving the case, however, is costly to GameFly. At the company's current volume of approximately 1.2 million shipments per month, the difference between the two-ounce flats rate of $1.05 that GameFly must pay to avoid automated letter processing for most of its DVD mailers, and the one-ounce letter rate of $0.44 that Netflix pays to avoid automated letter processing of return mailers, amounts to about $730,000. This amount represents more than 100% of GameFly's monthly net income in 2011.

Respectfully submitted,

David Hodess
President and CEO
