

To: The Postal Regulatory Commission

From: J.B. Brown
Manager/Corporate Services
Rich Products Corporation, Buffalo NY

Date: June 28, 2010

RE: Statement/Testimony (Docket N2010-1)
U.S. Postal Service Six Day to Five Day Street Delivery and Related Service Changes.

I would like to thank the commission for allowing me to express my views and opinion on behalf of Rich Products Corporation and the business community. I have been an Associate of Rich Products Corporation for the past 29 years. In those years I have held positions that mainly focus on Mailing & Shipping. My responsibilities include the management of mail services, shipping/receiving, records management, warehousing and security.

As a business mailer Rich Products Corporation views the U.S. Postal Service an important and necessary partner to provide mailing and shipping services to our organization. As a global company we rely on the Postal Service daily for both incoming and outgoing mail including first class, international, certified/return receipt, express, periodicals, standard and P.O. Box services. As Buffalo NY is Rich Products Corporation headquarters most of our processes are centralized here such as accounts payable, customer service and credit/collections. Although the trend is to bill and invoice electronically and have seen a steady decrease in our volume of first class mail like so many other companies we still use this service to mail invoices and A/P checks through the U.S. Postal Service.

Specific to the current proposal to switch from six to five day delivery schedule we as an organization will not be negatively affected and support this initiative. We applaud Postmaster Potter and the Postal Service for putting together a ten year business plan to make the necessary changes keep the Postal Service viable for the future.

