POSTAL REGULATORY COMMISSION

MARKET TEST OF EXPERIMENTAL PRODUCT-
CUSTOMIZED DELIVERY

Docket No. MT2014-1

NOTICE OF THE UNITED STATES POSTAL SERVICE OF CHANGE TO CUSTOMIZED DELIVERY MARKET TEST, WITH PORTION FILED UNDER SEAL
(October 9, 2015)

Pursuant to Commission Order No. 2224 (October 23, 2014), and 39 C.F.R. § 3035.6, the United States Postal Service hereby gives notice that it intends to modify the Customized Delivery market test to add a new feature to the test, for which a fee will be charged. The Postal Service intends to make this change effective on or shortly after October 21, 2015. The Postal Service's intended fee for this new feature has been redacted from the public filing, and will be filed with the Commission under seal. The Postal Service herein incorporates by reference its initial application for non-public treatment in this docket, for the protection of this material.

This new feature of the Customized Delivery market test will involve the Postal Service picking up empty totes after they have been used in the test, so that the test participants can retrieve the empty totes the next day. Under this new feature, test participants will be able to request a pickup of empty totes once per day via MyPO, for a fee of [REDACTED]. Postal carriers would pick up the empty totes on their regular routes, and return the empty totes to the DDU at the end of the day. The test participant would then be able to pick up their empty totes from the DDU when dropping off their new grocery deliveries the following morning. This new feature would be a convenience to both test participants and individual consumers, and would allow the Postal Service to explore a potential new source of revenue under the Customized Delivery market test.

All other aspects of the Customized Delivery market test as detailed in this docket remain unchanged, and in compliance with 39 U.S.C. § 3641 and Commission Order No. 2224.

Respectfully submitted,

UNITED STATES POSTAL SERVICE
