

Comments on Terminal Dues

I am a small business owner, selling items online. I am at a disadvantage trying to compete with foreign sellers, primarily from Asia because they have lower shipping costs than I have. The US Postal Service is reportedly losing money on the mailings from Asia with the low shipping costs due to Terminal Dues. And thus, I and other American business owners are subsidizing our competition because our rates have to be higher to support the loss from Terminal Dues. We insist that you fix the Terminal Dues so that shipping costs are a level playing field. Thanks.
