available to customers when they submit their permanent COA request. After that time, customers would be able to request and pay for Extended Mail Forwarding either up until the end date of the market test, or within 18 months of submitting their initial COA request, whichever comes first. Id.

The Postal Service states that Extended Mail Forwarding will be tested in nine postal districts throughout the country that represent a cross-sample of COA requests by volume according to 2019 data. Id. at 3. Customers submitting permanent COA requests in these districts during the market test will be eligible to participate in the market test. Id.

The Postal Service plans to offer initial pricing for Extended Mail Forwarding of $19.95 for one 6-month extension, $29.95 for two 6-month extensions, and $39.98 for three 6-month extensions. Id. at 2. Any customer who signs up initially for one or two extensions for $19.95 or $29.95 would be able to request additional extensions up to a total of three 6-month extensions for $19.95 for each extension. Id.

III. Compliance With Legal Requirements

The Postal Service asserts that the proposed market test meets the requirements in 39 U.S.C. 3641 and 39 CFR part 3045. First, the Postal Service explains that Extended Mail Forwarding is “significantly different from all products offered by the Postal Service within the last two years” as required by 39 U.S.C. 3641(b)(1). Id. at 4. The Postal Service states that Extended Mail Forwarding is “critically different” from the Premium Forwarding Service competitive product because Extended Mail Forwarding is associated with a permanent COA request enabled by the Postal Automated Redirection System (PARS). Premium Forwarding Service is first delivered to the address on the mailpiece, then repackaged and reinduced back into the postal network for delivery to the forwarding address. Id.

The Postal Service also asserts that the proposed service is “significantly distinct” from Commercial P.O. Box Redirect Service because that service will be available only to Commercial P.O. Box customers to redirect automated First-Class Mail letters to a P.O. Box with Caller Service using a different postal system. Id. at 5. Thus, the Postal Service asserts that Extended Mail Forwarding, while it may be considered similar to Commercial P.O. Box Redirect Service, will service a significantly different market with different cost characteristics. Id.

Second, the Postal Service asserts that Extended Mail Forwarding “will not create an unfair or otherwise inappropriate competitive advantage for the Postal Service or any mailer” as required by 39 U.S.C. 3641(b)(2). Id. The Postal Service states that all individuals, families, and businesses who are currently eligible to file a permanent COA request moving from or into one of the test districts may participate. Id.

The Postal Service asserts that because only it forwards mail under a permanent COA request, no other business offers a similar product or service. It also asserts that Extended Mail Forwarding will have no impact on small business concerns except to provide them with the option of extending their forwarding requests if they permanently change addresses. Id.

Third, the Postal Service states that Extended Mail Forwarding is properly categorized as market dominant as required by 39 U.S.C. 3641(b)(3). Id.

IV. Data Collection

To better understand the results of the market test, the Postal Service asserts that it will collect the following data on a quarterly basis: Number of extension requests, number of customers, ratio of individuals, families, and businesses, volume of mailpieces forwarded, and revenues. Id. at 6. The Postal Service also states that it will collect data on the attributable costs of Extended Mail Forwarding, including administrative costs. Id.
