I. Introduction

On November 9, 2020, the Postal Service filed a petition pursuant to 39 CFR 3050.11 requesting that the Commission initiate a rulemaking proceeding to consider changes to analytical principles relating to periodic reports.¹ The Petition identifies the proposed analytical changes filed in this docket as Proposal Seven.

II. Proposal Seven

Background. Proposal Seven relates to updating the variabilities for certain types of purchased highway transportation contracts. Petition at 1. In recent years, the Postal Service has made two major operational changes to its highway transportation network: Increased reliance on additional highway transportation during the seasonal volume peak, and the introduction of Dynamic Route Optimization (DRO) contracts. Id. The Postal Service characterizes both operational changes as large enough to qualify as major structural reorganizations which, in keeping with Commission guidance, require updating its variabilities. Id. Along with the Petition, the Postal Service filed a report by Professor Michael D. Bradley supporting the proposal.² The Postal Service additionally filed operational data, econometric programs and results, and additional under-seal materials providing detail on competitive products.³

Proposal. The Postal Service's proposal seeks to update its cost-to-capacity variability estimates for Christmas routes based on data from the Transportation Contract Support System, the same data source that was used to estimate the established cost-to-capacity variabilities for regular transportation. Petition at 2. The Postal Service has provided estimates for four variability equations relating to the seasonal peak: Christmas Intra sectional center facility (SCF) van transportation, Christmas Intra SCF tractor trailer transportation, Christmas Inter SCF transportation, and Christmas network distribution center transportation. Id. The Postal Service states that the provided variability estimates follow established methodology, and that in all four instances, estimated variability has increased over the current estimates. Id. at 2–3.

With regards to the DRO contracts, the Postal Service notes differences from traditional purchased highway

November 9, 2020 (Petition). The Postal Service also filed a notice of non-public materials relating to Proposal Seven. Notice of Filing of USPS–RM2021–1–1 and RM2021–1–NP1 and Application for Nonpublic Treatment, November 9, 2020.

transportation: They do not have fixed routes and are paid at a per-mile rate in lieu of annual contract awards. Id. at 3. Noting a substantial increase in DRO transportation costs from FY 2018 to FY 2019, the Postal Service states that the differences between DRO and traditional purchased highway transportation have become material, making it appropriate to investigate whether DRO contracts have a different variability than traditional contracts. Id. at 3–4. The Postal Service provided estimates of three DRO variabilities: Van, tractor-trailer, and both. Id. at 4. The Postal Service additionally reestimated variabilities for traditional van, tractor-trailer, and intra-city transportation. Id. at 4–5. The Postal Service states that all variabilities were estimated using established methodology. Id. at 4–5.

Rationale and impact. The Postal Service notes that the new variability estimates are all higher than the existing estimates. Id. at 6. It notes that the absolute dollar increase in competitive attributable cost is larger than the same increase in market dominant attributable cost, but that the percentage increases are about the same. Id. The Postal Service states that the impact on the attributable costs of each product will vary based on the proportion of the costs of each product that are highway costs. Id. at 7. The Postal Service provides a table that shows the change in unit transportation cost for different products. Id. at 8.

AGENCY: Federal Communications Commission.

ACTION: Proposed rule.

SUMMARY: In this Seventh Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking (FNPRM), the Federal Communications Commission (Commission) proposes rules for a new state-based licensing regime for public safety operations in the 4.9 GHz band, which would complement the new leasing regime adopted in the Sixth Report and Order. The Seventh FNPRM proposes to make permanent the current freeze on new applications and grandfather all current public safety licensees. It also proposes to allow states without a statewide license to obtain such a license and seeks comment on the creation of a voluntary state band manager to coordinate operations in the band. Lastly, it seeks comment on additional ways to implement and facilitate robust use of the band, including steps to address expanded access in states that divert 911 fees, the use of dynamic spectrum sharing, and ways to encourage collaboration across jurisdictions.
