SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On August 19, 2020, VA published a notice of proposed rulemaking to amend VA regulations governing the TSGLI program. 85 FR 50973. That rulemaking also proposed to deny a petition for rulemaking requesting that VA:

1. Amend the definition of "traumatic event" in current § 9.20(b)(1) to include "application of . . . explosive ordnance . . . causing damage to a living being."

2. Amend the definition of "traumatic injury" in current § 9.20(c)(2)(ii) to include a "physical illness or disease . . . caused by . . . explosive ordnance."

3. Amend the list of exclusions in current § 9.20(e)(4)(i) to provide that a "physical illness or disease caused by explosive ordnance" will not be excluded from TSGLI coverage.

4. Add the following definition of "explosive ordnance" to current § 9.20(e)(6): "all munitions containing explosives, . . . includ[ing], but . . . not limited to, improvised explosive devices (IEDs)."

This SNPRM does not propose any substantive changes to the previously published proposed rule. Rather, through this SNPRM, we simply seek to (1) clarify that VA proposes to deny the petition for rulemaking for the reasons set forth in the preamble to the proposed rulemaking, see 85 FR 50982-83, and (2) provide additional opportunity for public comment on that subject specifically because the August 2020 proposed rule may not have been entirely clear that the issues raised in the petition and the proposed denial thereof were subject to public comment.

VA hereby invites comments on the petition and the proposed denial thereof. Before making a final decision on the petition and the issuance of a final rulemaking, VA will consider all comments received during the comment period ending on October 19, 2020, in response to the August 2020 proposed rule and all comments received in response to this SNPRM by the closing date. If you submitted a comment regarding the petition in response to the August 2020 proposed rule, you do not need to submit the same comment again. This SNPRM does not reopen the other proposals that were contained in the August 2020 proposed rulemaking or request further comments on those proposals.

Paperwork Reduction Act

This proposed rule contains no provisions constituting a collection of information under the Paperwork Reduction Act (44 U.S.C. 3501-3521).

Executive Orders 12866 and 13563

Executive Orders 12866 and 13563 direct agencies to assess the costs and benefits of available regulatory alternatives and, when regulation is necessary, to select regulatory approaches that maximize net benefits (including potential economic, environmental, public health and safety effects, and other advantages; distributive impacts; and equity). Executive Order 13563 (Improving Regulation and Regulatory Review) emphasizes the importance of quantifying both costs and benefits, reducing costs, harmonizing rules, and promoting flexibility. The Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs has determined that this rule is not a significant regulatory action under Executive Order 12866.

VA's impact analysis can be found as a supporting document at <http://www.regulations.gov>, usually within 48 hours after the rulemaking document is published. Additionally, a copy of the rulemaking and its impact analysis are available on VA's website at <http://www.va.gov/orpm> by following the link for "VA Regulations Published From FY 2004 Through Fiscal Year to Date."

Regulatory Flexibility Act

The Secretary hereby certifies that this proposed rule would not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities as they are defined in the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 601-612. Therefore, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 605(b), the initial and final regulatory flexibility analysis requirements of 5 U.S.C. 603 and 604 do not apply.

Unfunded Mandates

The Unfunded Mandates Reform Act of 1995 requires, at 2 U.S.C. 1532, that agencies prepare an assessment of anticipated costs and benefits before issuing any rule that may result in the expenditure by State, local, and tribal governments, in the aggregate, or by the private sector, of $100 million or more (adjusted annually for inflation) in any one year. This proposed rule would have no such effect on State, local, and tribal governments, or on the private sector.

I. Introduction

On March 11, 2021, the Postal Service filed a petition pursuant to 39 CFR 3050.11 requesting that the Commission initiate a rulemaking proceeding to consider changes to analytical principles relating to periodic reports.¹ The Petition identifies the proposed analytical changes filed in this docket as Proposal One.

II. Proposal One

Background. Proposal One is a request to change the methodology for estimating revenue, pieces, and weight for domestic products reported into the Revenue, Pieces, and Weight (RPW) Report. Petition at 2. The Postal Service cites the introduction of numerous census system sources over the last 10 years as reducing the need to rely on Origin-Destination Information System—Revenue, Pieces, and Weight (ODIS-RPW) sampling estimates. Id. The Postal Service states that its proposed methodology would enable significant reductions in manual data collection and the accompanying costs, while maintaining statistical reliability. Id. The Postal Service additionally filed under-seal materials related to RPW data for competitive products.²

Proposal. The Postal Service's proposal seeks to update its current RPW system used to generate the RPW report filed quarterly with the Commission in conformance with 39 CFR 3050.25. Petition at 2. The current system relies on a variety of source systems, including the ODIS-RPW probability sampling system.³ The Postal Service's proposed methodology redesigns the non-digital sampling portion of ODIS-RPW and makes minor changes to the digital portion, along with a two-thirds (for non-digital) and one-third (for digital) reduction in sampling size. Id. at 12.

The Postal Service notes that past reliance on ODIS-RPW for business decisions has been replaced by the alternative disaggregated data source Informed Visibility (IV), addressing the Commission's previous concern that alternative disaggregated data sources be developed prior to reducing the sampling size of ODIS-RPW. Id. at 11. Similarly, the current Service Performance Measurement (SPM) system does not rely on ODIS-RPW volumes, so service measurement would be unaffected by the proposed changes to ODIS-RPW. See id. at 11–12.

The proposed updates to ODIS-RPW include consolidation of non-digital sample areas from 189 to 10 to reduce the chance of the smaller sampling size creating strata with no usable tests. Id. at 13. Mail characteristic stratification are defined uniformly at the national level, and sample data would be pooled across sample areas to ensure a sufficient sample size for each of the twenty strata. Id. The Postal Service additionally proposes using a ratio estimator for the non-digital sample using total reference volume across letters, flats, and parcels as the auxiliary variable to obtain national estimates from the sampled data. See id. Updates to the digital sample areas are limited to the same consolidation of sample areas, and an increase in the number of stratum from five to six. Id. at 16.

Overall, the Postal Service proposes to reduce ODIS-RPW sample sizes from approximately 31,000 to 18,000 tests per quarter. Id. at 17. The Postal Service justifies this reduction by the proposed methodology changes and the fact that much of the Postal Service's mail product information, including RPW reporting, now comes from census source systems. Id. The Postal Service would prefer to begin the reduced sampling starting July 1, 2021. Id.

Rationale and impact. The Postal Service justifies the proposed changes to ODIS-RPW as a comprehensive design that would "reduce sampling without compromising the integrity of the RPW program." Id. at 18. The Postal Service states that estimates from ODIS-RPW, when combined with census source RPW information, would provide reliable and consistent information. Id. The Postal Service conducted simulation studies of the impact of the proposed changes and compared the results to census source data, and provides a table that shows the affected lines of the RPW report. Id. at 18–20. The Postal Service states that coefficients of variability impacted by the proposed change would grow from

2.3 percent to 2.9 percent quarterly, and 1.2 percent to 1.4 percent annually, noting that there is no universal standard for acceptable levels of variation. Id. at 20. The Postal Services states that it does not view the potential minor increases in variability for RPW reporting as a cause for concern, and further states that it sees little or no practical impact of its proposal on the accuracy or reliability of estimates generated for the RPW report. Id.

III. Notice and Comment

The Commission establishes Docket No. RM2021-3 for consideration of matters raised by the Petition. More information on the Petition may be accessed via the Commission's website at <http://www.prc.gov>.
