Executive Summary

The Commission is an independent agency, originally created by the Postal Reorganization Act of 1970, responsible for regulatory oversight over the Postal Service by conducting public, on-the-record hearings concerning proposed rate changes, mail classification, major service changes, and recommending decisions for action by the postal Governors. The Postal Accountability and Enhancement Act (PAEA) (Pub. L. 109-435), enacted on December 20, 2006, transformed the Postal Rate Commission into the Postal Regulatory Commission.

The Postal Service had annual revenues of $75 billion in fiscal year 2008, and delivered nearly half of the world's mail. The Postal Service is facing troubling financial difficulties that stand to worsen before they improve. The economic downturn comes on the heels of continued diversion of single-piece First Class Mail to e-mail and electronic bill payments. The cumulative result of these events has been the most severe volume declines since the Great Depression and significant financial losses for the Postal Service.

The Commission continues to evolve in the role of a regulator by exercising broad regulatory oversight of the Postal Service with the goal to provide transparency on financial operations, pricing policies, accountability, predictability and delivery performance to Congress, stakeholders and the general public. The Postal Service has significantly more autonomy in setting rates; however, its ability to increase rates for market dominant products is limited by changes in the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers (CPI-U). The law requires the Commission to complete, its review of proposed new rates for market dominant products for compliance with the CPI cap within 45 days. To counterbalance the Postal Service's autonomy in setting rates and introducing new services, the Commission continues oversight responsibilities chiefly through information gathering, annual determinations of Postal Service compliance, consideration of complaints, and periodic reports on Commission operations.

The PAEA seeks to ensure the Commission's independence by authorizing the submission of its budget request to the Congress separate from the U.S. Postal Service and the appropriation of necessary sums from the Postal Fund. Section 2009, of title 39, instructs that:

(3) the Postal Regulatory Commission requests to be appropriated, out of the Postal Service Fund, under section 504(d) of this title. The President shall include these amounts, with his recommendations but without revision, in the budget transmitted to Congress under section 1105 of title 31.

The Commission has always recognized that its funding through the Postal Service Fund comes directly from the postal rates and fees paid by postal customers who use the U.S. Mail. The Commission continues to look for opportunities to optimize resources while maintain appropriate funds for operating costs. To maximize its resources, the Commission processes its financial and personnel transactions through the Postal Service's human resources systems. The FY 2010 budget request of $14,333,000 is structured to ensure the Commission's resources are aligned with its Strategic Plan. The request is an increase of $290,000 from FY 2009.

Background

The Commission is an independent agency composed of five Commissioners, each appointed by the President, with the advice and by consent of the U.S. Senate, for a term of six years. The Chairman is designated by the President and serves as the head of the agency. A Commissioner may continue to serve after the expiration of his or her term for up to one year. No more than three members of the Commission may be from the same political party.

Assisting the Commission is a staff with expertise in law, economics, finance, statistics, and cost accounting. The Commission is organized into four operational offices:

- ◆ Accountability and Compliance;
- ◆ General Counsel;
- ◆ Public Affairs and Government Relations; and
- ◆ Secretary and Administration.

The Commission maintains an independent office for its Inspector General.

The Commission has exercised regulatory oversight over the Postal Service since its creation by the Postal Reorganization Act of 1970. For thirty-six years, this oversight consisted primarily of conducting public, on-the-record hearings concerning proposed rate changes, mail classification, major service changes, and recommending decisions for action by the postal Governors.

The Postal Accountability and Enhancement Act (PAEA), enacted on December 20, 2006, is the culmination of a ten-year journey and produced the most significant changes in the regulatory landscape for the U.S. Postal Service and the U.S. postal system since 1970. The Act is founded on the principles of flexibility, transparency, accountability and predictability. The Commission's role is to ensure transparency and accountability in postal operations, services and finances, and serves as the window by which Congress and the American public have an unvarnished view of the Postal Service. The PAEA requires the Commission to develop and maintain regulations for a modern system of rate regulation, consult with the Postal Service on delivery service standards and performance measures, consult with the Department of State on international postal policies, prevent cross-subsidization or other anticompetitive postal practices, and adjudicate complaints. Additionally, it provides regulatory oversight of the pricing of the Postal Service's products and services while serving as a forum to act on complaints with postal products and services.

The PAEA also assigns new and continuing oversight responsibilities to the Commission, including annual determinations of Postal Service compliance with applicable laws, development of accounting practices and procedures for the Postal Service; review of the Universal Service Obligation and Postal Monopoly; and assurance of transparency through periodic reports. New enforcement tools include subpoena power, authority to direct the Postal Service to adjust rates and to take other remedial actions, and levying fines in cases of deliberate noncompliance with applicable postal laws.

The Commission's FY 2010 Performance Budget is structured on its Strategic and Operational Plan for FY 2008 – 2012. The Strategic and Operational Plan contains the following seven goals.

Goal 1 - Modern Rate and Product Regulation Establish and maintain a predictable, transparent, and effective system of rate and product regulation.

Goal 2 - Service Performance Evaluation Ensure appropriate and transparent United States Postal Service performance standards and measurements to promote an efficient, effective and responsive mail service.

Goal 3 - Financial Accountability and Compliance Ensure transparent, accurate, and informative United States Postal Service data reporting sufficient for evaluation of financial performance.

Goal 4 - Complaint Process Ensure United States Postal Service accountability through a fair and open public complaint process that provides appropriate and timely resolution.

Goal 5 - Public Participation and Government Relations Ensure the Commission is visible and readily accessible to all stakeholders.

Goal 6 - Human Capital Enhance a system that fosters recruitment, development, and retention of a talented and skilled workforce based on merit.

Goal 7 - Program Integration and Support Utilize latest technology, operational systems, and organizational infrastructure in achieving Commission goals.

Budget Overview for Fiscal Year 2010

The Postal Service had annual revenues of $75 billion in fiscal year 2008, and delivered nearly half of the world's mail. The Postal Service is facing challenging financial difficulties that stand to worsen before they improve. The economic downturn comes on the heels of continued diversion of single-piece First Class Mail to e-mail and electronic bill payments. The cumulative result of these events has been the most severe volume declines since the Great Depression and significant financial losses for the Postal Service.

The Commission is confident that the requested resources of $14,333,000 will allow it to meet the mission of ensuring transparency and accountability in postal operations, services and finances. Under prior law, the Commission's budget request was approved and funded by the Postal Board of Governors. Congress sought to insulate the regulator from the Postal Service by requiring the submission of its budget request to the Congress separate from the Postal Service, and the appropriation of necessary sums from the Postal Fund. Section 2009, of Title 39, instructs that:

(3) the Postal Regulatory Commission requests to be appropriated, out of the Postal Service Fund, under section 504(d) of this title. The President shall include these amounts, with his recommendations but without revision, in the budget transmitted to Congress under section 1105 of title 31.

The PAEA assigns new responsibilities requiring a staff with the necessary mix of skills, and modern information technology systems to ensure enhanced communication with the public and an improved ability to meet its new objectives as defined by the PAEA. Efforts to establish a supporting information technology infrastructure are underway. These efforts will be completed over the next few fiscal years. This request also continues funding for the Office of Inspector General, as authorized by the PAEA.

In FY 2010, the Commission will issue an annual compliance determination report assessing the Postal Service's compliance with the ratemaking regulations and applicable laws. In the report, the Commission will review and determine whether market dominant rates are within the CPI rate cap, and competitive products are not subsidized by market dominant products, and that competitive products pay their attributable costs as well as appropriate share of fixed postal costs.

The Commission has made great strides in the international arena during the last two fiscal years. The United States has been elected to the Postal Operations Council (operating body) and Council of Administration (regulatory body) of the Universal Postal Union (UPU). The Commission will continue working the U.S. Department of State and the Postal Service on the adoption of terminal dues rate drafted by the Commission during the UPU Congress. Additionally, the Commission will continue working with both agencies in the negotiation of international postal conventions and treaties.

Highlights of the Fiscal Year 2010 Request

- The Commission's budget request for FY 2010 is $14,333,000, a slight increase of $290,000.
- This request will allow the Commission to conduct financial reviews and special studies of the Postal Service reports on costs, revenues, rates and services to ensure the applicable methodologies as prescribed by regulations are compliance.
- This request will allow the Commission to conduct financial reviews of the Postal Service compliance report with Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act, as required by the PAEA.
- This request includes an upgrade to the Commission's Docket On-line system, which will replace the existing 11-year old system. The upgraded system is expected to provide a comprehensive solution that will enable improved document management by capturing the existing paper trail electronically, associating each document with a specific event, and creating a searchable database. Additionally, the enhanced system will provide better reporting options to support management oversight.
- This budget request will allow the Commission to continue its efforts in promoting greater transparency and accountability for postal services around the globe. To carry out this work, the Commission will participate in the Universal Postal Union (UPU) meetings in Bern, Switzerland and other regional organizations such as, the Postal Union of the Americas, Spain, Portugal and Caribbean Postal Union. In addition, this request will allow the Commission to serve actively on the Postal Operational Council and Council of Administration of the UPU.
- This budget request provides an opportunity for the Commission to continue our conduct an ongoing review and conduct special studies of the universal service obligation and the postal monopolies.

Strategic Goal 1: Distinct Systems of Modern Rate Regulations for Market Dominant and Competitive Products

Establish and maintain predictable, transparent, and efficient ratemaking systems. The system will achieve the following objectives: maximize incentives to reduce costs and increase efficiency; create predictability and stability in rates; maintain high quality service standards; allow the Postal Service pricing flexibility; ensure adequate revenues to include retaining earnings to maintain financial stability; reduce the administrative burden and increase the transparency of the ratemaking process; enhance mail security and deter terrorism; establish and maintain a just and reasonable schedule for rates and classifications; and allocate the total institutional costs of the Postal Service appropriately between market-dominant and competitive products.

In FY 2008, the Commission published the new ratemaking system eight months ahead of the statutory requirement. The regulations allow the Postal Service significantly more autonomy in setting rates; however, its ability to increase rates for market dominant products is restricted to changes in the Consumer Price Index – Urban (CPI-U). The law requires the Commission to complete its review of proposed new rates for market dominant products for compliance with the CPI-U cap 45 days upon receipt of the Postal Service filing. The Commission anticipates the Postal Service to file yearly new rate adjustment requests during the second quarter of each fiscal year.

Performance Objectives:

- 1.2 Reduce the administrative burden and increase the transparency of the ratemaking process*
- 1.3 Establish and maintain a just and reasonable schedule for rates and classifications*

The Commission has begun initiatives to modernize and ensure the security of the Commission's information technology systems.

The Commission’s existing information technology systems were designed for processing responsibilities under the old ratemaking regime. With the passage of the PAEA, the Commission conducted a comprehensive review resulting in recommendation to modernize existing database information; to establish a tracking system for informal consumer inquiries; to redesign the Dockets database and to continue to monitor and enhance security of all information systems.
